

Team: Consists of two NFL players (running back, wide receiver, or tight end) on separate NFL rosters.

- Each team costs $50 to buy.
- You can buy a minimum of 1 team and a maximum of 20 teams.

Rules:

- The game starts on Tuesday, week 1 of the NFL season.
- On that Tuesday, you select two players per team to score a touchdown.
 - o If one or both players score a touchdown, then that team moves onto week 2.
 - o If both players DO NOT score a touchdown, then that team is eliminated.
 - o You may change player selections at any time Tuesday and Wednesday.
- Starting Thursday, you may no longer change players.
- If a player scores a touchdown for a team at any point in the season, you may no longer select that player to score FOR THAT TEAM ONLY.
 - o You may still select that player to a touchdown for a different team.
- The user with the last team remaining wins the pot!
- If there are multiple teams in after the Super Bowl, then the pot is split amongst the users proportional to how many surviving teams they have.

Example:

A user paid $250 for 5 teams. It is now week 7 of the NFL season and the user has 2 teams remaining, and the player selects the following players to score a touchdown:

Team 1 = Travis Kelce or Tyreek Hill

Team 2 = Austin Eckler or Mike Evans

If Travis Kelce and Mike Evans score a TD that week, then both teams stay alive!

- Team 1 will no longer be able to pick Travis Kelce for the remainder of the season, and team 2 will no longer be able to pick Mike Evans for the remainder of the season.
- However, team 1 may still pick Mike Evans and team 2 may still pick Travis Kelce to score a touchdown.
